

VISUAL COMMUNICATION CLINIC

Friday 27 May, 1-2pm

Room 3.41, David Attenborough Building

Are you preparing a figure for a paper? A poster for a conference?

Do you have data that you want to display understandably?

Or simply want feedback on your map or image?

The Visual Communication Clinic is an informal session where you can bring your work-in-progress to discuss ways of enhancing it in terms of the visual design, the image quality, how well the message is understood, or to learn about topics such as image rights and Creative Commons.

The visual materials that you can bring include figures, maps, photography, illustration, diagrams, posters, graphical abstracts or other one-page elements to convey your data or results.

The session will be led by the photographer and resident artist at UCCRI and a graphic designer (Toby and Aiora).

Everyone at CCI welcome.
